Quarter Return Shows Increase Of $2 Million

Cash registers in Palm Springs stores rang up sales that ranged to a new high during the first quarter of 1962—by a gross of more than $2 million.

Cameron Regains Control

INDIO — The person and properties of multi-millionaire George E. Cameron Jr., were restored to him by an order signed by Superior Court Judge Merrill Brown this morning.

The order ended a temporary conservatorship of months which had been granted to Cameron's brother, Arthur A. Cameron, as to his person, and to the City National Bank of Beverly Hills as to his estate.

It was stipulated by attorneys for both sides upon a showing that George E. Cameron Jr. was a well and competent man.

Plans Expansions

Technically pending is an Aug. 16 hearing on a possible permanent conservatorship, but attorneys in the case said they expected a dismissal at that time.

"I am glad to be back in Palm Springs and I'm going ahead with plans for expansion of my newspaper and radio facilities," Cameron announced at the end of the half-hour court hearing.

The action by Judge Brown returns to Cameron complete control of his multi-million dollar oil, real estate, publishing and radio enterprises on the resignation of his brother, Arthur, as his personal conservator, and the agreement by the City National Bank for expeditious resignation of the bank's temporary estate conservatorship.

Arthur Resigned

There was appended at the end of the stipulation a signed statement by both George and Arthur Cameron that George has completely recovered from his illness; that Arthur A. Cameron has voluntarily resigned as a conservator.

Attorneys representing Arthur Cameron this morning were Ben Levine of Los Angeles. In the courtroom, but not speaking, was Arnold Rumwell.

Speaking for George Cameron was Thurman Arnold of Palm Springs. Representing City National Bank was Richard Marsh of Marsh, Moore and Cologne, Indio. Present, but not speaking, was Arnold's partner, Leon Rosenberg of Palm Springs.

The temporary conservatorships were established last Jan. 9 after Arthur Cameron petitioned the court for control of his brother's interests on grounds that George was ill and unable to properly handle his own affairs.

The increase was announced Thursday by City Finance Director Shelby Langford, who said Palm Springs received an advance payment of $135,000 for state collected sales tax revenue during January, February and March.

This is an increase of $20,000 or 17.4 per cent over the same period last year and reflects the increase only in sales subject to the one per cent city tax, Langford said.

This means that increases in revenue to the many hotels, plus service or labor charges and food sales other than restaurant meals would not be covered in the report.

In June of last year when the full sales totals were reported there was a total tax revenue of $150,759 and a total reaching perhaps as high as $165,000 for the first three months of this year is indicated, Langford said.

The gains shown by the tax figures are at odds with the reports given individually during recent weeks by businessmen along the resort city's Palm Canyon Drive, many of whom claimed their sales volume was below last year.

It was pointed out that although more money was spent in the city it was divided among a larger number of firms, resulting in a smaller sales volume for businessmen in the more competitive lines.

Carpenter's Space Shot Postponed

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A parachute problem that plagued the space voyage of John Glenn three months ago retuned Thursday to haunt America's second manned orbital flight and forced a new postponement until next Tuesday.

U.S. scientists decided at a top-level conference Thursday night the trouble posed too much of a threat to the life of spaceman-elect M. Scott Carpenter to risk going ahead with the launching Saturday as scheduled.

The three-day delay, third schedule hitch in little more than a week, will be used to install additional equipment to make the critical parachute system, designed to lower the astronaut and his capsule to a soft ocean landing, even more safe, officials said.

Carpenter, a 37-year-old Navy lieutenant commander who had been described as awaiting his planned three-orbit space flight "as anxiously as a kid at Christmas," attended the conference and took the decision with an official grumble.

The postponement "gives me a better chance to work with confidence," a formal announcement by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) quoted him as saying.

'Death for Judges' of Gen. Salan

OAS Threatens Lives of Court Men on Sentence

PARIS (UPI) — The Secret Army Organization threatened today to kill the judges and prosecutor in the trial of former Gen. Raoul Salan for his role as leader of the OAS if they condemn him to death.

Court President Charles Bonnet announced that all the judges of the special court had received letters from the OAS threatening their lives if a sentence of death is passed on Salan.

State Prosecutor Andre Gavalda first told the court that he had received a letter from OAS leader ex-Col. Yves Godard threatening him with death if Salan and ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud are executed.

The death threats were disclosed when a Moslem deputy from Algeria spoke of the "good will" of Godard, one of the colonels leading the secret army who is still at large.

"Talk about good will," Gavalda said. "I have just received a threatening letter from the OAS, signed by Godard."

He read parts of it to the court. The letter said that Gavalda's head "depends on those of Salan and Jouhaud."

Bonnet interrupted to say that all the judges in the tribunal also had received letters threatening them with death if they impose the same penalty on Salan.

Missile Launch With Nuclear Warhead Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today was reported considering the launching of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile carrying a nuclear warhead for detonation in the Pacific testing area near Christmas Island.

If the project is carried out, the missile would fly approximately 3,000 miles before the test explosion, presumably at considerable altitude. It would be launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, north of Los Angeles.

Both the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department refused to comment on the report.

2 Texas Congressmen Said Active for Estes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. news conference that government investigators were "staying right on Mr. Estes' tail."

Kennedy said 76 FBI agents had been assigned to the case and promised that "if members of the executive branch are involved" they would be "immediately disciplined appropriately."

Four Lose Jobs

Two Agriculture Department officials have been fired, a third quit and a Labor Department official resigned because of the Estes affair.

Kennedy said he had not been able to find any favoritism toward the indicated Texas farm magnate "as of now" but said new facts might come out.

Estes has been indicted by a federal court in Texas on charges of fraud concerning his dealings with the government grain storage program and fined more than $500,000 for misusing cotton allotments.

He was once a member of the government's cotton advisory board.

Mundt said that a briefing given to subcommittee members Thursday showed the case was "substantially worse than any of us realized."

NEWS in BRIEF

BERLIN (UPI) — An 81-year-old man led 11 other East German refugees to freedom in West Berlin through a 30-yard tunnel under the barricaded border, it was announced today.

The refugees, eight men and four women, fled safely May 5 after secretly digging the tunnel for 16 days. They dug the tunnel from the Soviet zone town of Glienicke to the French sector district of Reinickendorf in West Berlin.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — A homemade bomb exploded Thursday night in a popular sidewalk cafe filled with American military officers and other foreigners in Saigon. Two Germans were slightly injured but no Americans were hurt.

MADRID (UPI) — Gen. Francisco Franco's labor chief today ordered striking miners in northern Spain back to the bargaining table, warning them their 43-day old strike is "destructive to the national economy."

LONDON (UPI) — When the surgeon operated on the 6-year-old girl, he found in her stomach: 118 shoelaces, eight socks, 20 pieces of hair ribbon and miscellaneous items.

ROME (UPI) — American actor Ben Gazzara was shot in the side today while playing a part in a war movie.

Gazzara was taken to a local hospital where doctors said he would be all right in two or three days.

More American Combat Troops Fly to Asia

United Press International

Nearly 500 more American combat troops were disclosed to be flying toward Thailand today as Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said that U.S. forces sent into that Southeast Asian nation "will be driven out."

A Honolulu announcement said between 450 and 500 more American troops—combat specialist and combat support troops—flew from Hawaii Thursday in Air Force transport planes to join 2,800 American troops already in Thailand. Another 500 troops were scheduled to depart early next week.

Khrushchev, speaking during a tour of Bulgaria, said "It is only a question of time" until American forces will be driven from Thailand. He said it was "stupidity" to send U.S. forces there.

Khrushchev did not say who would drive the Americans out of Thailand. But the implication was that this would be done by the people of Thailand. He said Russia's intentions are peaceful.

The Soviet leader said President Kennedy's decision to dispatch troops to Thailand "is an unreasonable decision...Blood will be shed there."

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, the newly appointed commander of U.S. forces in Thailand, flew into Bangkok today to set up his headquarters. He immediately began a round of conferences with U.S. Ambassador Kenneth Young and senior Thai military staff officials.

As the American military build-up continued, Thai Prime Minister Sarit Thanarat was reported to have told his cabinet that every SEATO pact nation except France has indicated its willingness to send a token military unit to join U.S. troops in Thailand.

Premier Sarit, the Bangkok Post reported, told his cabinet he feels Thailand's 80,000-man army plus the U.S. force is sufficient for the time being.

"There is no likelihood of war at present," the Thai prime minister was quoted as saying, "but the stationing of American troops (in Thailand) will be a deterrent to the Communists if they plan to commit aggression against this country."

Khrushchev made his blunt speech just as Kennedy's decision to send combat forces to Thailand appeared to have cooled down the crisis in Southeast Asia.

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Entertainer Danny Kaye, who had complained of "feeling bad" for several days, was ordered hospitalized Thursday night by his physician.

U.S. Force Cools Down Asia Crisis

United Press International

President Kennedy's decision to send combat forces to Thailand appeared today to have cooled down the crisis in Southeast Asia.

With U.S. Marines established within striking distance of the Laotian border, pro-Communist rebels gave back ground to the royal Laotian army.

A battalion-sized force had re-established the control of the pro-Western government in the Laotian Mekong River village of Houei Sai.

American military advisers ventured up to 25 miles out of the village with Laotian army patrols without encountering the rebel force that drove the royal army across the Thailand border last week.

The rebels proclaimed over their clandestine "Voice of Laos" radio they would not give up the strategic towns of Nam Tha and Muong Sing although they were on the government side of the cease-fire line proclaimed last year.

Nevertheless, no fighting has been reported in northwestern Laos for nearly a week, raising hopes that the rebels were ready to sue for peace.

U.S. Air Force transports ferried equipment from Bangkok to the forward positions taken up Thursday by American Marines. The Marines set up a tent camp on a dry plateau surrounded by rice fields about 35 miles from the Laotian capital of Vientiane but well within Thailand.

Seat Belt Session Set

Desert area residents are offered another opportunity to get nationally recommended safety seat belts for their automobiles at bargain prices from the Palm Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce this weekend.

The "seat belt clinic" will be staged in the parking lot east of Market Basket Market, adjacent to Farrell Drive, Sunday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., announced Ken Putzier, chairman.

Junior Chamber members will man five service lines to speed installation of the belts, which are offered at $6 each plus sales tax, Putzier said.

During a two-day clinic conducted April 28 and 29, Putzier said, the Jaycees installed the belts in more than nearly 300 cars.

The use of the belts are urged by the National Safety Council and police departments across the nation as of great value in helping to prevent death or serious injury to passengers of automobiles involved in traffic accidents.

Dental Society Convenes

A scientific meeting held at El Mirador Hotel in Palm Springs combined studies of advancement in the field of dentistry with fresh air and sunshine for members of the Tri-County Dental Society.

Among the many table clinics presented was an outstanding review of materials and techniques for mouth guards. This form of mouth protection is a requirement of participants of major athletics in all California secondary schools.

New officers of the Dental Society were installed at a ceremony following dinner at El Mirador. Rounding out the day was a golf tournament held at the San Jacinto course in Palm Springs and swimming for fun in El Mirador Hotel pool.

Candidate Shell TV Appearances Schedule Told

RIVERSIDE — Joe Shell, Republican candidate for governor, will appear on television according to the following schedule released yesterday over Southern California TV stations:

Weekends, May 19-20 — Los Angeles area over Channel 11 6:15 p.m. on May 19; May 20 same channel 1:15 p.m.

Thursdays May 17 and May 31 — Channel 7 10:30 to 11:00 a.m.

Wednesday, May 23 — A live broadcast direct from a huge "Joe Shell for Governor" rally from the Los Angeles Sports Arena 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. over Channel 13. This rally will feature a major campaign address by Joe Shell.

In connection with the rally special busses have been chartered for the people of Riverside, Corona and Elsinore. Admission to the Sports Arena for this rally will be charged.

Bus fare automatically entitles ticket holders to reservations in the huge arena where a crowd of 12,000 people is anticipated.

Those not going by special bus must make their own reservations at the arena. Those desiring a seat on the special busses should call Shell for Governor Riverside headquarters for time and place of boarding the busses. The advance reservations are coming in rapidly, according to county headquarters, so there is need to phone in without delay. There may also be a special bus for Hemet if sufficient reservations from that area come in.

Siamese twin girls born there last month.

The infants, named Patricia and Prudence, are "very well formed, beautiful little Chinese girls," according to a hospital announcement—perfect except for the defect that binds them from the breast bone to navel.

Surgeons will operate May 29, when the babies will be 6 weeks old. Surgery was postponed until that time because "at that age infants have fairly firm hold on life."

The children, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Lowe, San Francisco, had one placenta and umbilical cord at birth, but completely separate circulation systems, separate hearts, and separate intestinal tracts.

Examination showed that they share a single liver which may possess a "bridge" of tissue that can be severed.

The twins were born April 11, but their birth was announced only Thursday to the press.

Savings Firm Reports Gain In Accounts

For being the lucky one to open the 14,000th savings account in Coachella Valley Savings and Loan Association, Mrs. Mildred Lofgren of Portland, Oregon, was made $10 richer by an additional deposit to her account by W. H. Smith, president.

Smith points with pride to this record of 14,000 savings accounts, for, according to him, it took four years after the association first opened, to obtain the first 1,000 accounts. Since that time the number has risen until at the present time they open 1,000 new savings accounts in approximately four months instead of as many years.

"The growing number of savers indicates the consciousness of the general public of a need for a savings and investment program for families," Smith said. It's also a good indication that the housing condition is a healthy one and has contributed to the growth of this area, for the amount of money people invest governs the number of loans which can be made for new homes."

Winners of Poster Test Announced

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Two eighth graders, Taun Brooks and Robert Hicks were first and second prize winners in the annual 29 Palms Marine Base Navy Relief Poster contest.

The two junior high students are enrolled in the art class taught by Mrs. Glenn Stealy. First prize, which went to Taun Brooks, was a six transistor miniature radio. A five-dollar check was presented to Robert Hicks for his second place poster.

Posters could be in any medium, with few restrictions imposed on composition. The dates of the Navy Relief carnival, May 16, 17, and 18, and the location, at the Marine Base, were among the items that had to be shown on the poster. Miss Brooks' winning poster depicted a colorful merry-go-round with cactus animals for riding. Hicks' second prize poster displayed a huge banner, suspended between two upright missiles.

The awards were presented at an assembly in the Yucca Valley School Multipurpose room, by Sergeant Huerta of the Marine base.

Hoffa Will Face Jury

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa was granted a jury trial starting June 19 on charges that he beat up a union aide "like a man berserk."

Hoffa entered a plea of not guilty before Municipal Court Judge Thomas C. Scalley and requested the jury trial.

Samuel Baron, Hoffa's accuser, sat silently a few feet away from the stocky teamsters' chief during the brief courtroom ceremony.

Baron's eyes were blackened. There was a long gash under his left eye which he said was result of Hoffa's blows in a scuffle Thursday morning in the teamster president's office.

Hoffa refused to comment on the charges to newsmen. He said he would leave the matter to his lawyer, H. Clifford Alder, who appeared with the teamster chief this morning.

Baron's apartment was guarded by two deputy marshals today following his charges against the union leader.

Baron, field director of the teamsters warehouse division, said "it would be absolute suicide" for anyone to testify against Hoffa on the charges that the union leader knocked him down twice and shoved him over a chair. If found guilty, Hoffa would face a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $1,500 fine.

Baron said "If anything happens to me, at least it will be publicly known who my enemies are."

The slightly built man said all he could do when Hoffa turned on him was shove at the stocky Teamster boss. "I wish I had the muscles, but I don't."

Eye Is Swollen

Hoffa, 49, who was freed on $500 bond, said "This is a court case and I will not say anything men."

Baron, who was paid $17,000 a year by the union, said: "I am not going back to the Teamsters." He said he would "do everything I possibly can to convince members of the Teamsters Union they are locked in by the worst group—with many exceptions—of trade unionists I have ever seen in my life."

Members of the Lewis and Clark expedition have generally been credited with the first discovery of the sage grouse by white men.

U.S. Voice To Sound In Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said Thursday night the United States would continue to make its voice heard on European security matters as long as it supplies men and dollars to ward the common defense.

In an obvious reply to criticism from France and West Germany, Kennedy commented that the United States would not base its long-term decisions "on the short-term state of our popularity in the various capitals."

The President mentioned names but his thinly veiled comments struck at the heart of differences between him, on one side, and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle on the other.

While stressing that this country would not attempt to please all of its European Allies, he emphasized that "disent does not mean disunity." He said disagreement could be healthy as long as "we avoid ... any ill-tempered or ill-conceived remarks which may encourage those who hope to divide and conquer."

Kennedy spoke at a banquet of a conference on trade policy. Earlier in the day he discussed his differences with De Gaulle and Adenauer in answer to a question at his news conference.

At the press session he conceded there were differences with De Gaulle on the roles of each country within the Atlantic community. But he praised De Gaulle's basic loyalty to the West and said the situation would be much more difficult if De Gaulle "was not stalwart in his defense of the West."

As for French and German complaints about U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin, the President told his news conference, "We wish to have some voice because if the moment of truth comes, the United States would have to carry the major burden of defending the city."

Patrol Division is Backbone of Palm Springs Police Department

By JOHN LAW

In law enforcement the patrol division is conceded to be the backbone of the police department. Operating around-the-clock and for whatever overtime is required to get the job done, the uniform officer soon learns that being a policeman is quite different than the television concept or his pre-employment impression.

After "raising" his right hand and promising faithfully to support our Constitution, enforce the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city, "so help me God," he has read to him the law enforcement "code of ethics" which describes the ideals he must live up to.

18 Men

In Palm Springs a total of 18 uniformed men are assigned to the patrol division, headed by Capt. Dale Thompson, a veteran of 16 years who has been thoroughly trained in traffic, patrol, records, investigation, narcotics, vice and liquor control. His experience and training provides the resource with which to meet the problems he will be confronted with.

The division has six black and white patrol sedans, each radio equipped including a 12 gauge shotgun, spotlight, red lights, siren, flares, blankets, splints, tape measure, chalk, broom, jack and fire extinguisher. The 24-hour day is divided into three eight-hour watches starting at 1 a.m., 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. The shifts change every 60 days.

Six Beats

Palm Springs is divided into six beats or precincts for which the officer assigned is held responsible. During the winter months when the community is well populated, the patrol officer is specially alert for suspicious vehicles or persons in the more expensive neighborhoods. With two of every three persons being permanent residents elsewhere he must be pretty adroit and discerning when stopping people for investigation. Many wealthy visitors shed their big city garb and reveal in informal attire, hardly appearing the affluent or distinguished people they really are.

"Because a Palm Springs policeman may be dealing with presidents, criminals or paupers," Chief Gus Kettmann declares, "It is only fair that we employ above average recruits whom we hope to train and mold within five years into competent policemen. This is no easy task and many become discouraged and leave because of the abuse they are subjected to or move to higher pay in other departments."

Rigid Standards

The Palm Springs Police Department adheres to the same rigid recruitment standards of the Los Angeles Police and follows this up with concentrated in-service training even exceeding that prescribed by the state training and standards law. Dr. Sadie Shellow, psychologist with the Milwaukee police department for 19 years, sits with the oral board during interviews, ed before Sept. 15 when school Now a resident of Palm Springs, Chief Kettmann has high praise for Dr. Shellow.

Politeness and courtesy are the first required attributes of the Palm Springs Policeman, Chief Kettmann insists. Efficiency only follows training and on-the-job experience which the recruit first receives in the company of a veteran patrolman, the chief believes. During the past year two men have become chiefs in other cities.

He Studies

While the policeman is "observing the state of affairs," shaking doors, placing and removing pedestrian signs, issuance of traffic citations, interrogation of suspicious persons, investigating accidents, searching faces for "wanted" persons, he is studying the penal code, city ordinances, welfare and institutions code, alcohol beverage control act and 14 other statutes on which he must be competent to act.

During the summer the nature of Palm Springs changes. Hundreds of homes and businesses are closed for several months, multiplying the nuisance and theft hazards. Some 2300 swimming pools must be taken into consideration as a risk factor and all policemen have life saving certification and first aid cards.

Summer Patrol

Upwards of 600 homes plus half that many business locations request summer patrol and this is provided without charge as manpower permits. Residents and businessmen are encouraged to employ one of the two private patrols for more extensive protection.

Assisting Capt. Thompson in supervision, around the clock, are two lieutenants, Maury Aitken and Dick Harries and three sergeants, Ray Youngberg, Bob Young and Peter Callan. As head of the patrol division Capt. Thompson also supervises traffic and detective divisions.

In June the department is divided into four groups for vacation purposes and this is complet-

Mysterious Poisoning From Food

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A mysterious outbreak of food poisoning which caused serious illnesses in 18 states has apparently "about run its course," a U.S. Public Health Service spokesman said today.

The food poisoning was caused by a rare type of bacteria known as salmonella hartford. Prior to this year, no more than 20 cases of food poisoning by this particular germ had been identified in the whole history of the United States.

Since early this year, however, there have been 95 laboratory-confirmed cases of salmonella hartford poisoning, and 42 suspected cases which were not definitely confirmed by laboratory tests.

AIRLINE TALKS CONTINUE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiators for the Air Line Pilots association and Trans World Airlines turned to economic issues today in an effort to agree on a contract before the strike deadline at midnight tonight.

The National Mediation Board announced that both sides agreed late Friday to set aside a complicated crew complement issue until June 18 and negotiate on economic matters, primarily the pilots' demand for a pay hike of about 15 per cent.

Beta Sigma Convention This Weekend

"A Golden Gate Interlude" is promised by the members of San Francisco City Council, Beta Sigma Phi, as they hostess the 22nd annual State Convention, May 18, 19, 20. The locale is the stately Fairmont Hotel atop Nob Hill, where the graciousness of by-gone days will live again as delegates assemble to renew old friendships and conduct the serious business at hand. Convention Chairman, Miss Mary Ellen Miesse reports this will be the largest convention ever, and plans have been completed to accommodate 2,000 delegates and 500 husbands. Special activities are planned for the men; bowling, golf and attending a baseball game, while the wives are in business meetings.

The various events planned will depict the many historical facets of "The City by the Golden Gate." A reception Friday evening honoring the special guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Ross, the Founder of Beta Sigma Phi, will begin the festivities. Mrs. John Alchin, President of Mission California Council and her husband will be in the receiving line to greet members from this area. Preceding the reception, the board members of the four State Areas will convene for a dinner - business meeting with Mrs. Craig Converse, president of Northern California Council Area presiding. The four areas represented are Northern, Central, Southern and Mission California Councils.

Educational Forums will be held Saturday morning. Topics of general interest to all members will be discussed by a panel of qualified members, two from each area. Representing Mission California Council will be Mrs. Robert Tussing of Chula Vista, vice president of M.C.C., whose subject will be "Your Town - My Town" and Mrs. John Dill of Palm Springs whose topic will be "Let's Parliament."

"Oriental Splendor" will theme the Saturday luncheon where a fashion show will be the afternoon's highlight. That night the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont Annex will be transformed into yesterday-year for the banquet and Grand Ball reliving the historical elegance of "A Night in Old San Francisco." Ross will be the guest speaker and has chosen "Our Beta Sigma Phi Retirement Home" as his topic.

Following the business session, the 2,000 delegates will participate in the impressive Closing Ritual which will adjourn the State Convention of 1962.

NEWLY ELECTED and outgoing board members of the Founder's Auxiliary of Angel View Foundation pose at installation held at the Palms Restaurant in Desert Hot Springs. If current television programs have driven you back to reading books, don't miss the hilarious "What Are You Doing After The Orgy" by Henny and Jim Backus. I don't often laugh out loud when I am reading a book, but I guffawed at this one. I just doubt if Europe will ever be the same again after the Backus invasion . . . and they sure do adore "Mr. Magoo" over there.

Both Henny and Jim are Golden Door regulars (four times a year) and there's a section about that. The items about Le Tour d'Argent, the one about Nieman Marcus and Jim's experience in the Parisian barber shop are too much. This book is a sure cure for the glooms.

The Leonard Cleeks have returned to their Sagebrush Road home after visiting their daughter Sue Evans (remember the Moon Goddess?) who is playing her harp in the lounge at the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas and is already signed up for a six week engagement there next February.

Sue and her Trio move in the Commercial Hotel in Elko, Nevada on May 28 and the Cleeks will be there for the opening.

Eugenia Grow postcards from Acapulco with the announcement that their championship dog Mr. Tweed has conquered Mexico like Cortez took the Aztecs, and has added a Mexican championship to all his others. The card came airmail but I think Eugenia arrived home before the card got there.

A card from Harry Joe Brown from the St. Regis in New York, says "howdy and goodbye," and he is already in Paris. It was interesting seeing Erroll Flynn in "Captain Blood" on television the other night. He was as youthful as his son Sean who's starred in "The Son of Captain Blood." Of course, Harry Joe produced both pictures.

Carl Burns (he's president of Crystallite Records) who maintains a home here year round, is currently in Canada and the Pacific Northwest promoting that terrific new record "Irene of Acapulco" sung by Rudy Martin, who is a frequent Palm Springs visitor.

Gen. John S. E. Young, USMC Ret., of Desert Hot Springs, has entered a 1937 Rolls Royce in the Concours d'Elegance to be held at the Palm Springs Biltmore this Sunday.

Engraved on the side of the car are: "Hooper and Co. Body and Coach Builders, Ltd., to His Majesty, the King; Her Majesty, Queen Mary; HRH the Duke of Connaught; and HRH, the Duke of Kent."

The General points out facetiously, "and now to Jack and Gussie Young."

Ray Ryan and his wife Helen and daughter Rae Jean are here after a short visit to Jamaica, where they stayed at the Bay Roc. They will be going in to Los Angeles tomorrow night to attend the Share Dinner at the Moulin Rouge, which always presents an all-star cast.

Bertine and Collis Steere have sold their El Alameda house and are now living at 119 Twin Palms Drive in the Royal Hawaiian Estates, in case you've lost track of them.

The Dan Newtons are having a wonderful time at Waikiki and expect to be there until June 11.

Helen Winston, motion picture producer, just back from England, spent Mother's Day here with her daughter, Molly Allen of 250 So. Patencio. She was in London for the first showing of her picture "Hand in Hand" and has just signed with 20th Century Fox to do the Doolittle series.

Lillian (Mrs. John) McClure, Aileen Pauley and Eleanor Kalmus flew to Seattle for a few days at the Fair, then went on to Victoria, with plans to be back in Palm Springs for the weekend.

Lillian (Mrs. Franklyn) McCarthy is the latest one to arrive at her home in Palm Springs and find a burst water pipe had flooded the house and ruined the carpets.

It is consoling to find that we aren't the only ones to suffer from typographical errors. A wedding story in an Idaho paper came out like this, "They were attired in identical dresses of blue flowered taffeta with full skirts and carried white hoses." HOSES, that is!

Founders Auxiliary AVCCF Holds Luncheon Installation

The Founder's Auxiliary of Angel View Crippled Children's Foundation in Desert Hot Springs held an installation luncheon May 9 at the Palms Restaurant. Rev. Archie Matson of the Community Methodist Church gave the invocation with Mrs. David Larsen, a past president of the Auxiliary, giving the oath of office to Mrs. Howard B. Greene, the new president.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Leslie Morgan, 1st vice president; Mrs. Camille Fontenot, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Earl Farmer, treasurer and Mrs. Nick Coscarelli, secretary. Mrs. Charles Wallace, Mrs. Fern Norton and Mrs. Joseph Gambino were sworn in as board members.

Guests were seated at tables decorated with pink carnations and sequined angels by Mrs. James Pack past president, and Mrs. Charles Wallace. A report of Auxiliary activities was given by Mrs. Joseph Lowenthal. Mrs. Earl Farmer reported the Auxiliary has grossed $13,518.73 since May 1, 1961, and has turned over $12,015 to the Foundation.

Sam Benton, president of the Foundation, thanked the ladies for the donations and stressed the need for more. Three Diamond Angel pins were given to Mrs. Hans Kleijung, Mrs. Fern Norton and Mrs. Albert Wagner in return for their donations.

Mrs. Charles Wallace announced that 67 members had joined the Auxiliary since last year and inducted Mrs. Rollie Harris, Mrs. Ted Nettekoven, Mrs. Dorothy Reeves, Mrs. William Slattery, Mrs. Jerry Grubaugh Sr., Julius Mattheisen, Howard B. Greene, Earl Farmer and Mrs. Henry Berry, as new members.

The Southern Pacific Coast Region of Hadassah will hold its 17th annual conference May 20-23 at the Palm Springs Riviera Hotel. Seven Hundred women are expected to attend this important meeting, and the Palm Springs Chapter of Hadassah, together with Whittier and San Gabriel Chapters, will be hostesses for this event.

Highlight of the conference will be the presentation of the Woman of the Year Award to Jessie Marmonston, M.D., F.A.C.P., at the banquet Sunday evening, May 20, at 7 p.m.

Mrs. John Chernus, president of Palm Springs Hadassah, has announced that the local chapter will hostess a luau around the pool at the Riviera Hotel on Tuesday evening, May 22, from 6-10 p.m. Assisting her will be conference chairman Mrs. Kate Neishuler and co-chairman Mrs. Ernest Hirschbein. Mrs. Marty Cobin is in charge of the menu, and Mrs. Abe Schwartz of decorations.

Next meeting of the Soroptimist Club will be at Holiday Inn on May 22, with Ralph Johnson and the Twin Pine Boys entertaining. The May 29th meeting will be held at the Riviera hotel as Holiday Inn will be closed.

On May 23 there will be a party at the home of Viola Lukawickie, 570 Mesquite Ave., with Marie Ford and Lee Wenzlick as hostesses. Donation of $1.25 will be given to ways and means projects. Lee Wenzlick will present a lecture on San Simeon and show colored slides taken when she worked for W. R. Hearst.

Plan Trip To Denmark And Sweden

Mrs. Edwin Buckheim is taking daughter Kristina to Sweden and Denmark this summer, flying by jet over the pole, to visit relatives who have never seen the pretty little girl. They will visit Mrs. Buckheim's mother, Mrs. Nils Nyberg in Goteborg, Sweden, and her sister Mrs. Ingemar Signas in Malmö, Sweden.

The Signas have three small boys, and the cousins are excited at the prospect of meeting each other, even though Kristina speaks only English and the three boys nothing but Swedish.

The Buckheims expect to be in Denmark for the most celebrated Fourth of July Festival.

Mrs. Buckheim will carry with her a letter of greetings from Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower (she's of Swedish descent on her mother's side) addressed to the Royal Family of Sweden.

Hawaiian Beach Boys Mix With 'Indian Chiefs' at Luau

By THIRZA SCHENK

The gaiety of the capacity crowd prevailed throughout the evening at the Shadow Mountain Club's Annual Luau in spite of the switch in the weather.

A few "Indian Chiefs" were spotted in among the Hawaiian Beach Boys and Hula Girls . . . one of them turned out to be Eddy Howard . . . who was wrapped in a blanket from his car!

At the John Moon's table Vivian Austin with husband Glenn, was having a first night out from her recent serious illness. Columnist Art Ryan, one of the Desert's best boosters, and his wife Pat were also at the Moon's table.

At President Cliff Henderson and wife Marian's table were George and Rosalie Hearst and Pat and Sue Raymond, Adrian and Mercedes Schwilck. Eddie and Mrs. Shipstad flew in especially for the occasion.

Over 400 people were seated at the poolside tables with red checked cloths and centerpieces of pineapple and other tropical fruit with hurricane lamps.

Lanterns were reflected in the pool on which floated beautiful flowers. Palm fronds covered the stage which was centered over the pool. Cabanas became "little grass shacks" for the evening.

Tables of Polynesian American food lined the entire upper terrace, with the Shrimp Boat attracting much attention and comment.

Guests were greeted with leis in the traditional island custom by "Wahines" in sarongs. One of the highlights of the evening was the participation from the audience in the Tahitian Twist.

Realtors' Essay Test Under Way

Nellie N. Coffman Junior High School English students have submitted essays in a contest sponsored by the Palm Springs Board of Realtors. Competing for a first place award of $50, and a second and third place $25 award, the teenagers have written 500 to 1000 word essays on "The Benefits of Private Ownership of Property in a Democratic Society."

Purpose of the essay sponsorship by the local Realtors is part of their observation of National Realtors Week, May 20-26, commemorating the passage of the Homestead Act of May 20, 1862, which threw open to private owners and settlers millions of acres of land, and marked the beginning of the opening of the great West.

Judges of the essays will be Mrs. Isabelle Cameron, president of the Palm Springs Board of Realtors; Mrs. Sydney Lakey, wife of Herbert Lakey, past president of the Palm Springs Realtors Board and honorary life director of the California Real Estate Association; Mrs. Theresa Press, regional vice president of the 28th district of the California Real Estate Association; and James Crowe, chairman of national Realtors Week for the local association.

Judges from the Nellie N. Coffman faculty will be Miss Dorothy Simpson, English teacher; James Milliron, principal; and Mrs. Geraldine E. Howlett, English and social studies teacher.

Advertising helped it happen

By stimulating mass demand, advertising helped create a mass market for electric light bulbs. As demand grew, more and more were made. The more of them made, the less each one cost. Result: new and better electric light bulbs mass produced for more people at lower prices by America's remarkable and competitive economic system. Is this worthwhile? Then, so is advertising worthwhile.

Maria and Pedro
By Diana Watson (7)
Cielo Vista School

Once upon a time there lived a little girl named Maria and a little boy named Pedro. And they loved each other. And there was a villain. This villain loved Maria too. Maria was a toe dancer. She was very very pretty too. Every night Pedro would come to see her. The villain would come to see her too. One night there was an army. Every man had to come. But the villain did not come because he wanted to stay with Maria. Even Pedro wanted to stay with Maria. The villain wanted Pedro to get shot. Maria said, "I'm going to kill you and get Pedro." And sure enough they got together.

The Ghost Gets Scared

Jerry was visiting his aunt. She had an old vacant house two miles from her home. It was up for rent but no one wanted it because they thought it was haunted. Then Jerry decided to go to the house and see if there were ghosts in it. At first, he was scared but then he went on in. A ghost came out of the stairs and scared Jerry. He ran out of the house frightened. He heard the ghost laughing at him so he went back inside. The ghost was going back upstairs and Jerry yelled, "Boo!" The ghost jumped into the air. He said to Jerry, "Don't do that! Promise me that you won't tell anyone?" Jerry said he wouldn't if the ghost could make him invisible also. Everyday he went to the house for invisible lessons. After that the ghost moved to another house. Jerry's aunt invited the ghost to visit them for Christmas and he stayed on to live with them.

The World

By Craig Christensen (8)

I saw a great cloud in the sky
I saw a black bird flying by.
There were mountains covered with snow.
God made everything in this world, I know.
I saw the waving palm trees,
Swaying in the breeze.
When I took a walk one day
These beautiful sights I saw on the way.

Junior Scientist

By Michael G. MacLean
1139 Abrego Rd., P.S.

To have something in my eyes so I could see without glasses was a new experience for me. The doctor first took the measurements of my eyes from every angle so he could tell how large and round to make the lenses. He then tried on one lens to see if I could wear contact lenses. At first it felt like a bee crawling on my eyeball.
Then after a while it stopped hurting but my eye was still watering.
In a little while the doctor took the lens off. That was one of the most exciting moments of my life.
Then they are ground to your prescription. The lenses are paper thin and they are large enough to cover the cornea of the eye.
The lenses float on the fluid that protects the eyeball.
Contact lenses were invented about one hundred years ago, but were only put into real use in the last 10 years because of all the research to perfect them.

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

Saturday, May 19, 1962

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning has all kinds of tensions and tests for you to meet that call for great patience and self-control on your part. Do nothing to upset or change any present condition. Then the afternoon and evening become excellent for projecting yourself in all sorts of interesting ways. Go after what you want, definitely.

ARIES (Birthdays from Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Important you take no chances in monetary or personal affairs today. However, tonight is ideal for exploring new places and meeting charming people.

TAURUS (Birthdays from Apr. 20 to May 20) — Steer clear of any arguments this Saturday with any business ally. However, later you can discuss informally how to proceed in the future more harmoniously and what your individual duties shall be.

GEMINI (Birthdays from May 21 to June 21) — Work happily and conscientiously in A. M. Later, be out to fun places with associates and discuss important affairs at the same time. "Grow."

MOON CHILDREN (Birthdays from June 22 to July 21) — Important you improve appearance in A. M., though you had planned on having a good time. Later, get accumulated duties out of the way. Look to improving health in P. M.

LEO (Birthdays from July 22 to Aug. 21) — Cooperate with those living under own roof this A. M., and be helpful. Find solace from tension at favorite fun places in the evening with good friends. Be happy.

VIRGO (Birthdays from Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Get at those detailed reports early in A. M., and put them quickly behind you. Be sure to have good friends in the evening for a bit of chit-chat and fun.

LIBRA (Birthdays from Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — By getting monetary and other problems out of the way early, you release time for fun with good comrades later at hobbies, activities mutually enjoyed.

SCORPIO (Birthdays from Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Be above reproach in all you do this morning. Get appearance and health improved. Get out socially in the evening with those who can help you with good advice, etc.

SAGITTARIUS (Birthdays from Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Quietly delve into accumulated duties and rid yourself of them in A. M. Later on is free for enjoyment as you prefer and also to get help you need from others.

CAPRICORN (Birthdays from Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Try not to be forceful or irk some friends until lunch time. The afternoon and evening can then be very happy in the company of the person you like the most. Be gay.

AQUARIUS (Birthdays from Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Better get at those civic duties that await you this morning. Then there is still time to get out with good friends and have a ripping good time. Be happy.

PISCES (Birthdays from Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Be sure to stay at home in A. M., and save wear and tear on your nerves. Then you can get out socially or to public meetings in the evening with perfect poise.

If Your Child Is Born Today, You will find that he, or she, is one of those little charmers who is filled with enthusiasm to get ahead quickly, but feels it is important to be an instigator in all endeavors. Teach early that harmony and kind deeds, thoughts produce infinitely better results. Excellent chart for any work connected with trouble-shooting.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

No Roundtable Like Ernie Ford's

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Rarely since King Arthur has there been a roundtable discussion to match the one held Monday on television by Tennessee Ernie Ford, Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov and Mrs. Titov.

The illustrious peepicker very nearly succeeded in turning his ABC show into a homey version of "Ma and Pa Titov" with a domestic earthiness that poses him as a distinct threat to Arlene Francis.

Ernie corralled the Titovs on their recent visit to San Francisco, from where his program originates, and devoted about half of his 30-minute air time to a taped chat with the aid of interpreter Ivan Shkylar.

There was a sense of impending disaster when Ernie began by addressing Shkylar as "Mr. Ivan." But before you knew it, Titov and his reticent wife had let their hair down for the first time on television as Ford guided the talk to hunting, recipes and marriages.

Titov drew a big laugh from the audience when Ernie asked him how long he had been married, and he couldn't remember. Finally, he answered, "Three years," and his wife corrected, "No, it's really been four." Said Titov: "We don't count the first year. It was paradise."

Well, you could hardly top that. But Ernie almost did when, after extracting a promise to get the recipe for Titov's favorite dish—a mixture of beef and flour meal—he presented the Soviets with an assortment of hush puppy mix, hominy grits and black-eyed peas.

Personally, I can't think of a more perfect present, because it is bound to convince the Russians that any nation which can consume such stuff is able to withstand anything.

Anyway, Titov informed Ernie that golf is not played in Russia, and that his favorite hunting position is sitting under a tree, waiting for the quarry to romp by. And Mrs. Titov, who is studying to be a doctor, said he preferred ready-made food.

Well, there was lengthy applause at the end. Shkylar said it was "the most relaxed few minutes Titov has spent since his arrival in the U.S." and things got so chummy that I thought Ernie might break out a deck of cards for a bridge foursome at any moment.

It will be interesting to see how the mail reaction runs. Titov revealed a flair as a panelist. Like maybe for the Communist version of "What's My Line?"

Bing Crosby, who owns ABC-TV's "Ben Casey," tossed it off the air for one night Monday for an hour of smiles and music with Bob Hope, Edie Adams, the Smothers Brothers, Pete Fountain's jazz group, and his son, Gary.

Hope's effect on Crosby is amazing. In the past the Groaner's shows have been slow, but with his old sidekick there to bounce lines off, Monday night's entry was a breezy, well-paced romp devoted to leisure.

Bing and Bob are still the best song - dance - and - comedy team

Jody Reynolds Hit the Big Time Without Leaving Desert Country

Jody Reynolds, who grew up in Calipatria and started his combo at the age of 15 playing around Indio and Blythe in the summers has hit the big time without leaving the desert.

Although he toured with Connie Francis, the Everly Brothers and Buddy Morrow, he has always returned to the desert and made Palm Springs his permanent home in 1956. He opened at the Biltmore Garden Room Thursday.

Jody has been made famous by the "Twist." He says he has been playing the same music since 1955 but now that the "Twist" dance craze has caught on it is more popular than when it was called Rock and Roll.

His record of "Endless Sleep," which came out in 1958, is what first brought Jody to national prominence. This mournful tune, which sold over a million records, was the product of a years sabbatical in Palm Springs, during which time Jody gave all his time to composing songs, looking for a big hit.

When he took "Endless Sleep" to the Johnstone-Monteil Music Publishing Co., they thought so much of it they paid for the recording themselves. Later, the record was leased to the Liberty label, but Jody, always a canny businessman, has kept his rights to all his songs.

He had another big seller in "Thunder" a twist instrumental which sold over 200,000 copies. His newest, "Come On Twist," is just coming out.

Hollywood Agog Over Englishman

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Peter Sellers! Peter Sellers! Peter Sellers!

You'd think "The Greatest Story Ever Told" had arrived in town with the original cast. That's how agog the film capital is over the appearance of English actor Sellers in Hollywood.

Producers, directors, stars and studio bigwigs have gone ape about Sellers.

They've swamped him with movie offers, parted him like visiting royalty, and starlets have stormed his hotel quarters like old Pete baby was giving away Rolls Royces.

It comes as a shock then to see Sellers in the flesh.

He is an ordinary man in appearance. Not too tall, not short and perhaps just a touch overweight. He's no Cary Grant, but neither is he a Boris Karloff. As Englishmen go Peter falls somewhere in between the two, which suits him well enough.

The actor is as mystified as many Hollywood observers by the

If he were a Gina Lollobrigida or a Brigitte Bardot, sure, that's understandable. Diana Dors, maybe. But Sellers!

"Takes one back a bit, doesn't it," he said, attacking a bowl of grapes in his Beverly Hills Hotel suite. "Perhaps it's because I've made only one picture in my life that didn't earn a profit."

Sellers' modesty was genuine albeit misplaced. He is considered to be one of the finest actors in motion pictures today. He can play comedy, tragedy, and most stops along the way. He has an enormous range of accents and voices, one minute sounding like an old-schoolie blighter and the next a Chicago gangster.

Asked if he would like to make Hollywood his permanent home Sellers was aghast.

"Good Lord no," he said. "I like it here and all that."

Perhaps it might be nice to make a picture or two a year out here. But I love England, and that is where I will continue to live."

Bridges Is Decked by Line Drive

BOSTON (UPI) — Courageous Marshall Bridges and veteran Bob Turley combined for a superb three-hit pitching job as the New York Yankees edged Boston, 2-1, yesterday.

Despite being floored by a line smash off his jaw, reliever Bridges climbed back on the mound and completed the final two innings for his first American League victory and moved the Yankees into a tie for first place.

The defending world champions broke a 1-1 deadlock in the 9th inning by scoring without the aid of a base hit. Mickey Mantle walked, stole second and continued to third on a throwing error to score on Elston Howard's sacrifice fly.

Dodgers Guns Blast Colt 45s in Overtime

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers had first baseman Wally Moon to thank today for sending the Houston Colts out of town empty handed.

Moon's late inning heroics were responsible Thursday night for the Dodgers coming to life in the ninth and tenth innings to score a 5-4 overtime victory. The sweep of the three-game series with the Colts left the Dodgers three games behind the San Francisco Giants as the powerful St. Louis Cardinals invade Chavez Ravine tonight for the first time.

For the series opener, southpaw Johnny Podres, 3-2, got the starting call and will be opposed by Ray Sadecki, 1-2, who has never beaten the Dodgers.

During the series Stan Musial of the Cardinals will be shooting for the all-time National League hitting mark. He currently is tied with Honus Wagner 3430 lifetime hits.

Preakness Worth $188,300

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The 86th running of the $188,300 Preakness Stakes Saturday shapes up as a three-horse race among Jaipur, Decidedly and Ridan.

However, the owners and trainers of the eight other entries today offered logical explanations for giving their colts a crack at the second of the Triple Crown classics.

The outsider in the field is a colt named Flying Johnnie, generously listed in the program line at 30-1 but who will probably go off at 100-1.

"A horse like that should not be in the race," said Horatio Luro who trains Decidedly, the Kentucky Derby winner, for the El Peco Ranch of George A. Pope.

"A classic should have dignity, and unless you think your horse can finish one-two-three you should not start him," the Argentinian claimed.

But Paul Hampshire, owner of the Jopa Stable along with his father, John H., and brother, John D., believes Flying Johnnie has a chance to be in the money.

"Flying Johnnie is not too fast out of the gate but he has shown some speed at the end and we think he deserves a shot at the best," Hampshire said.

"Besides, Maryland and Baltimore should be represented in the race," added the man whose firm put in all the tile, flooring and plaster in Pimlico's new $1.2 million clubhouse.

Sunrise County, Crimston Satan and Roman Line offer more solid credentials than the other outsiders.

The Colts scored four runs off starter Sandy Koufax. Norm Larker drove in a pair in the first inning. Bobby Aspromonte singled home a run in the fourth, and Carl Warwick homered in the fifth.

Big Crowd Expected For Relays

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Milers Peter Snell of New Zealand and Daryl Burleson of the University of Oregon top an entry list that includes a half-dozen world and American record-holders tonight in the 22nd Coliseum Relays.

Snell set the world mark of 3:54.4 at Wanganui, N. Z., last Jan. 27 and Burleson has the American record of 3:57.6, causing sponsors to bill their event as a "miracle mile."

Another mile entrant is Jim Grelle of the Los Angeles Track Club who has a best time of 3:59.9.

The mile, however, is only one of five events where world marks may be approached or topped.

Upset in Big 5 Tennis

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Top-seeded Rafael Osuna of the University of Southern California downed Mike Hynes of the University of Washington, 6-4, 6-2, Thursday in second-round action at the Big Five tennis tourney.

The favored Trojans led in team competition heading into today's action with 5 points. UCLA had 3 and California 2.

In a major upset Thursday, Paul Welles of California bounced Stanford's number one netman, Yoshi Minegishi, 6-3, 6-3.

Angels Drop 6-4 Tilt To Baltimore Orioles

BOSTON (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels take on the Boston Red Sox tonight after pitching ace Bo Belinsky was dealt his first major league loss Thursday night, 6-4 by the Baltimore Orioles.

Eli Grba goes to the mound for the Angels facing righthander Galen Cisco for Boston.

In Thursday night's game, the Orioles routed Belinsky in the third inning to cut short his winning streak at five games.

The pride of the Angels, Belinsky, who pitched a no-hitter against the Orioles two weeks ago in Los Angeles, was clubbed for four hits and six runs by Baltimore batters.

The Orioles' Boog Powell hit a 400-foot line-drive home run in the second inning, scoring Gus Triandos, who had walked.

Belinsky was belted for another homer by Jackie Brandt, causing the winning Angel hurler to throw the resin bag high into the air. The fans booed Bo, and in the third inning, they waved their

Homestead Will Key Observance

Desert area realtors on Sunday begin celebration of national Realtor Week which will run through next Saturday.

Under the motto "Homestead and Home—Foundation of the Nation," they will join with some 70,000 other Realtors across the nation, seeking through this means to emphasize their services and to make clearer the distinction between a Realtor and others in the real estate business.

Realtors are members of local constituent boards of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, one of the largest trade and professional organizations in the country.

"A Realtor," Isabelle Cameron, president of the Palm Springs

Board said, "subscribes to a well-established code of professional ethics enforced through the local board. It obligates us to keep the interests of both buyer and seller uppermost in mind during a transaction."

The term Realtor was adopted by NAREB in 1916, and its exclusive right to the ownership of the term for use by its members only has been established by numerous court cases over the years. It is registered as a collective mark (similar to a trademark) in the United States Patent Office.

REALTOR WEEK was proclaimed with Mayor Frank Bogert's signature designating the observance from May 20 to 26 for Palm Springs and its Board of Realtors. With the mayor, who is a board member,

High Seas Area Sales Announced

They're all at sea in the desert! Yes, along with golf and the Twist, one of the most fashionable things in the desert area is sea-side living at North Shore Beach on the Salton Sea.

Dramatic evidence of this has come in the monthly report that Hotelman - Developer Ray Ryan and Attorney Don Eastvold, co-owners of the 1,000-acre marine community, have just released.

Property sales during April reached the highest volume in the history of the Ray Ryan-Don Eastvold development, it was announced Monday.

Gross dollar volume during the 30-day period amounted to $1,239,450, eclipsing by more than double the highest monthly sales mark ever recorded.

Involved in the total for April were waterfront homes, homesites, commercial lots and income properties. So busy were North Shore's salesmen that none of them was able to take a day off throughout April.

North Shore's lures include:

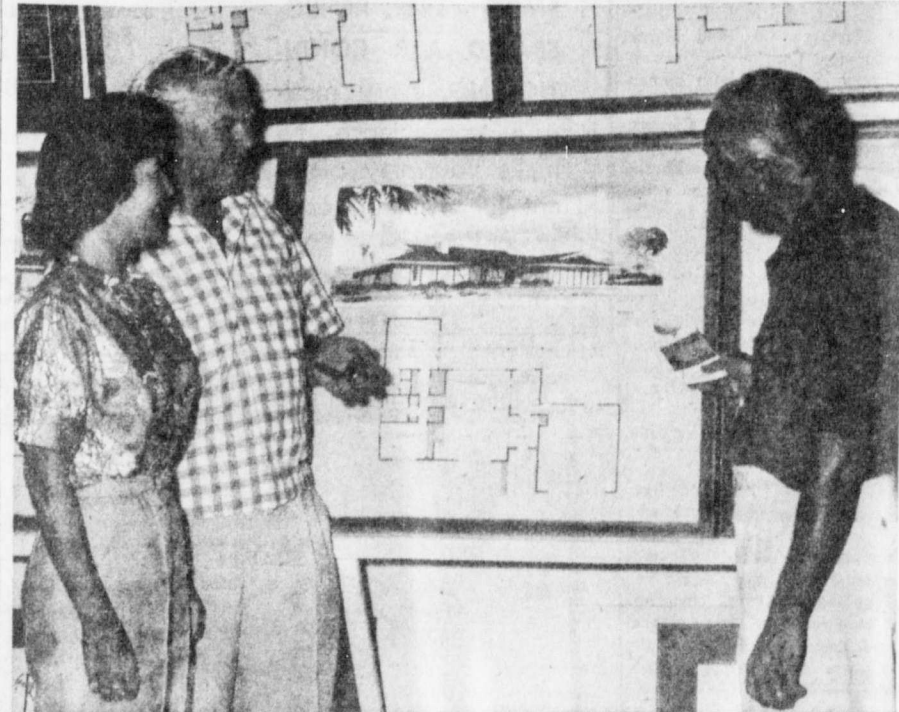

1. Ideal year 'round weather. 2. The Salton Sea's excellent boating and water skiing conditions because of its extra salinity and less than sea-level altitude. 3. North Shore Beach Yacht Club's magnificent facilities, including its 400-foot marina and new airport.

The homesites were part of a group of 500 newly engineered lots for which a new 500,000 gallon fresh water tank is being constructed by North Shore as part of the Coachella Valley County Water District system.

Many homes are now under construction in this rapidly burgeoning community. The projection is for a level of 3,500 homes and a population of 10,000 persons. Builders currently on hand making this projection come true include R. Thel Homes, Dunes Construction Co. and firms headed by Robert Pillow and Charles Gibbs.

Newcomers to the Salton Sea never cease to be amazed at glimpsing the burgee and pennants of a yacht club flying from its mast and yardarms right in the middle of the California desert. The flags fly from the $500,000 two-story headquarters of the North Shore Beach Yacht Club.

North Shore Beach has become a regular celebrity rooster with such notables on its yacht club membership roster as: Bing Crosby, William Holden, British Speed King Donald Campbell, Gregory Peck, Jerry Lewis, Edgar Bergen, Ernest Borgnine, Katy Jurado, Alice Faye, Phil Harris, Jimmy Van Heusen, Mrs. Clark Gable, Zeppo Marx, Billie Dove (Mrs. Bob Kenaston), Bill Gargan, Chuck Connors and William Morrow.

SELECTING THE PLAN for the home they bought from among the 20 available in Harry Kelsos' Canyon Country Club Estates are Mr. and Mrs. Davis McDonald, a union executive, and his wife, Rosemary. With them is Norman Maiden, sales director for the homes which are spotted along the green fairways of Canyon Country Club. (Photo by Milt Jones)

Work Starts On Lodge in Hot Springs

DESERT HOT SPRINGS—Ground breaking ceremonies were held here Saturday for a 32-unit lodge to be constructed on Hacienda between Foxdale and Tamar.

Owner, Joseph J. Bomalick of Hollywood, said that the new lodge, the largest of its kind to be built in the community, will be opened in October.

Cost of the 14,000 square foot structure is estimated at more than $250,000. Twenty of the 32 air-conditioned units will have complete kitchen facilities.

Each of the ground floor units will have Roman tubs which will be supplied with natural hot mineral water from a well on the premises.

Recreational facilities will include a 50-foot swimming pool plus a hot therapeutic pool.

The structure will be built by Stone Wright Jr. of Desert Hot Springs. Harris Johnson of Cathedral City is the architect.

Collie Collides

JYVAESKYLA, Finland (UPI)—A driving instructor had to report to his superiors recently that his driving-training automobile was struck by a station wagon driven by a collie dog.

The station wagon was parked on a hill and the collie apparently caused the gears to become disengaged. The vehicle, with the dog behind the wheel, rolled down the hill and hit the driving teacher's car. No one was hurt.

CONTROLS DUE

Code to Cover County

RIVERSIDE — May 28 has been enforcement county-wide," said Supervisor George Berkey.

The State Department of Industrial Relations, Division of Housing, recently advised the county of the state's intent to require state-wide building code compliance, May 28.

"The only possible exception that would seem practical," said Bixel, "would be for any building or structure designed or constructed primarily for agricultural use, including, but not limited to barns, hay sheds, granaries, livestock sheds or shelters for birds or animals where located in an agricultural zone."

"There is very little inhabited land in the county now that is not covered by the building code and I believe it would be well to make permitting local jurisdiction, and inquired as to the county's plans for enforcement. The supervisors instructed county counsel to inform the state that it has placed the matter on the agenda for May 28.

MUSHROOM REFLECTORS on dome top units give low level, concentrated illumination, and are used to provide safety lighting for paths or steps, or decorative lighting for flower beds. Stems of various heights and any desired wattage in bulbs may be used. For temporary or permanent installation ornamental lights add beauty to any garden setting. Bell type reflectors dramatize low or medium height flowers, while ornamental shields simulate flowers.

Garden Lights Beautify Homes

Outdoor lighting can work wonders for your home — in beauty, safety, and convenience. Lights outside enhance interesting features, conceal unattractive areas. Whether you install lighting yourself, or have it done by professionals, you should be a planner. Each yard is individual as a fingerprint. Experts can't tell at a glance how to get effects you like. They follow the same steps you can: Trial and error. Experiment with groups of lights in different locations, until you achieve desired results.

Study the yard first. Note features most attractive by day; they are the best starting point for painting pictures with light at night.

Make a simple sketch of your yard: put an "X" where light will best illuminate various objects. Draw arrow to show direction of beam. Be generous; cut later. Study basic light types. Check locally to see what's available and at what price. Note beside each "C" a type of fixture you think will do the best job for the money. Then consider whether you're after spot, flood, or area light.

Think of texture. Ever notice how headlights show up rough spots on a road? In the same way, light on a static stucco wall (angled low) makes it look lively as a lava flow.

On the other hand, low light across a concrete patio — which you want to look smooth — makes it look rough.

Remember, lights are selectors. Illuminate just what you want to see. Let sandbox, trash burner, or refuse can fade with sunset.

You can't bend light, but you can make it "bounce." A large surface will make a small light do the work of a big one, if light is reflected off a wall or other object toward the place you wish it. This light is more subtle, less glaring than a spot. It's also a good way to avoid shining light into the onlooker's eyes.

Remember the beam will continue past small or fragile objects. You can light a large tree, and let light sift through a small shrub en route.

Count the "X" marks on your sketch. See which ones can be combined. Arrange so that the least amount of cable completes the circuit to all.

Now you're ready to experiment. Most people use direct-buried neoprene cable. (There are

Builder Severin Turns Dreams Into Community

A master of turning dreams into reality is Nels G. Severin, who developed the first "active retirement" community in Southern California, Palm City.

Recognized throughout the United States as an authority on home construction and land development, Severin also is a leader in the field of mortgage financing.

Severin, who has been a resident of California for the past 31 years, began his illustrious career in 1941. At that time he went into the home construction business with his brother, U.C. Severin. They built hundreds of defense housing units during the war. U.C. retired in 1947 from the Severin Construction Co., but Nels was just beginning.

Severin became president of the Severin Construction Co. and continued to turn his dreams into reality. He now is president of Palomar Mortgage Co., and Marnel Development Co.

Through Severin's keen perception of the promising Southwest, the Severin Construction Co. progressed from building defense housing to all types of residential communities, including the prize-winning Severin Manor in La Mesa Calif., adjacent to San Diego.

For his homes in this community, Severin won awards from American Home Magazine, "Best Home for the Money in California" and "Best Home for the Money in the Western United States," from Parents Magazine, "Best Homes for Families with Children," and from Look Magazine, some instances where overhead wires are preferred.) Buy a supply of cable and use it for experimental extension cords. Or rent some outdoor extension cords. You can use one long cord, locate one light at a time, but using several lets you test over all effect of the installation.

GARDENING IN THE DESERT

Chemical Fertilizers Are Superior for Plants

To the average amateur gardener, a study of today's fertilizers should be a must. Steer manure is taboo by the word of the city fathers, a dictum that is really helpful in keeping down the myriads of flies that enjoyed the feast when steer manure was spread. Wisely we have turned to the many chemical mixtures obtainable at good nurseries.

Glancing along the shelves the amateur gardener might be bewildered by the many varieties of fertilizers. Iron Chelate, Iron Sulphate, Iron Sulphate of ammonia, Camellia Food, Rose Food, Dicondra Food, etc., Cotton Seed, Blood Meal, Bone Meal and others.

The analysis marked on the bags might differ slightly, some may numerical quotations, 10-8-6—governed by the manufacturers there might be slight differences in the numerals.

The figures might be confounding to beginners but are easily explained. 10-8-6—indicates 10 per cent nitrogen, 8 per cent phosphorous and 6 per cent potassium, you will naturally conclude that the other 76 per cent is carrier. Other mixtures might possibly contain as high as 50 percent total units of chemicals—this simply means go easy on the feeding. Naturally it is more expensive and the amateur gardener would be wise to turn his back on it until the day he becomes more expert.

Taking the place of steer manure there are bags of humus and other mixtures on the market under differing names they can be bought in many markets locally. An acquaintance of ours has always figured once a year as sufficient feeding with chemical fertilizers and he is sufficiently stubborn to stick to his ideas regardless of other opinions.

Sorry to say the condition of his garden does not back him up. Mother Nature provided us with an excellent variety of plants, some deep rooted, some medium roots and other shallow rooted. Some, like Tamarisk and Smoke Trees, have a tap root that goes down and down until it finds life-giving water others like Citrus are provided with a jungle of roots that feed them.

Cacti use water frugally, some store their own food when the rain comes. Seeds of the desert's wild flowers will not produce if there is no winter rain. Shallow rooted flowers need more frequent fertilizing and watering.

Older trees with deeper roots need deeper and less frequent watering, some, like the Carob, call for very infrequent irrigation while Citrus trees thrive with once a week deep watering in the height of the summer gradually diminishing to the once a month in the winter.

With all this in mind we must conclude that all plants cannot be treated alike. Rose and more shallow plants cannot derive all the benefits derived by the deep-rooted Citrus; there is not as much lost in the leaching of water that there is in the more shallow plants.

"Now, now, dear! ... We've been sending Junior to camp every summer for years! ... This time we don't have to pay! ..."

"WHICH ARE YOUR GUEST TOWELS, MRS. WILSON?"

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — All of the moral indignation over the death of fighter Benny (Kid) Paret apparently will have little immediate effect on televised boxing.
ABC-TV has renewed the matches for next season. But ABC sources say the program's future may not be so certain in the fall of 1962. Investigations continue. And shows such as Wednesday night's David Brinkley interview with Emile Griffith — the other boxer in the ring when Paret was fatally injured — keep the matter alive.
Welterweight champ Griffith, appearing on NBC-TV's weekly "David Brinkley's Journal," sat with the newsmen beside a boxing ring.
The overwhelming impression was the pathetic situation of a man trying to justify an occupation he feels was good to him, but which eventually landed him in the center of a nightmare he never really made.
In remarks preceding the interview, Brinkley said the 7,600 persons present at Madison Square Garden and 15 million televisioners who saw the fight "watched one man kill another." But Griffith, in the talk, said he did not feel he killed Paret. He did not feel guilty, he added.
"I was just doing a job in there," like any other fighter, he said. He defended boxing. "I don't think the sport-boxing — is that bad," he said. He suggested that people start knocking football because, he said, more athletes are killed in that sport.
Griffith grimly acknowledged he had not yet fully snapped out of the Paret tragedy. "It isn't easy," he said. He added he didn't realize Paret was hurt as he punched him; and that his manager had told him to keep swinging until the referee stopped it. It is not a boxer who makes such decisions, he said.

A Case That Demands Vigorous Action

Agriculture Secretary Freeman's comment on the Billy Sol Estes corruption charges coming out of Texas, was: The case has been blown up out of all proportion.

In other circles, however, the question is heard: Is this another Teapot Dome?

If it develops into that and there are signs that it may, it will present an interesting comparison between two administrations, 40 years apart, in the national capital.

The Texas case is one involving possible fraud to the extent of millions of dollars in grain storage and in liquid fertilizer operations by Estes.

The FBI has been called into the case and Secretary Freeman has fired three men of his staff and a fourth resigned.

The White House will have to do more, however, to approach the vigor of the 1923 investigation into the Teapot Dome scandal.

For, contrary to what many believed and still believe, the White House in the petroleum lease frauds, acted and acted vigorously. The belief that scandals in high circles are condoned didn't hold true, documented research reveals.

Jesse Smith, personal assistant to the attorney general, accused by President Harding and warned of immediate prosecution, committed suicide the next day.

Harding did not live to see full extent of the investigation but Calvin Coolidge who succeeded him two months after the scandal broke, acted even more vigorously.

The probers uncovered four distinct leads to fraudulent operation and President Coolidge acted quickly, the records show, to speed prosecution. There was no cover up, no condoning, for anyone.

When Atty. Gen. Harry Daugherty sought protection behind the president, he was fired instead by Coolidge who ordered Daugherty's prosecution. The oil leases obtained by fraud were cancelled and returned to the federal government.

Former Secretary of the Interior, Albert Fall, escaped prosecution for five months after Harding's death and he probably would never have been exposed had not President Coolidge persisted in the investigation.

The Bill Sol Estes case, with the amount of money involved, possible "payoffs", acreage transfers which the Texas attorney general terms "illegal" could reach as far as did the Teapot Dome scandals.

Secretary Freeman, however, believes it has been blown up out of proportion. Only three employees of his department "possibly" received favors from the Texan and they are gone from the scene.

There will always be rumors of corruption and rumors of cover-ups. If they are mere rumors, the fullest investigation will bring that to light. If they are more than rumors, a full and impartial investigation will bring that to light, too. And there will be no cover-ups.

The Billy Sol Estes case demands the fullest investigation by a stout-hearted congressional committee armed with subpoena power and strongly staffed to bring all of the facts to light.

If the Democrats now have a "Teapot Dome" down in Texas it should bring as prompt and vigorous action as the "Teapot Dome" in Wyoming brought from the White House 40 years ago.

A Brand Name Is Your Protection

A good name long has been recognized as one of man's most valued assets and those who possess one strive constantly to protect it.

The same holds true for all reputable manufacturing firms and more than 1,000 of them, back in 1943, organized the Brand Names Foundation.

This is Brand Names Week and the attention of the public is called to the great part the hundreds of the nation's most respected firms who are celebrating it, play in our free economy.

The American economy is based on the concept of individual initiative. Competition is an important factor. It encourages each manufacturer to put his finest effort into his product and to back that product with his name and reputation.

This system results in a uniquely American privilege for consumers. It makes for a wider choice of products, shopping ease, and convenience and a sense of safety in purchases.

Competition results in new and improved products, the benefits of the testing and research programs carried on by quality manufacturers in every field and the confidence and satisfaction provided by the products of a reputable firm.

The manufacturers spend great sums in building up their good names and are spending great sums to protect them.

Brand names mean extra good buying in your favorite store.

You can hardly go wrong with brand names.

Success tip for young men: Start at the bottom and wake up — Royal Neighbor.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

Most Predictable But Most Puzzling

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The most stable, the most complex, the most completely predictable yet the most puzzling character in Washington is the U.S. Senate.

All this has recently been borne out for the umpteenth time by the upper body's refusal to do anything for the President and the Attorney General on their Literacy Test bill, much less to stomp down the half-dozen Southern stalwarts who are practicing the time-tested privilege of talking the bill to death.

In retrospect, when asked by their friends and colleagues to explain their votes, a number of liberal Senators who generally support the Administration in its civil rights efforts, simply say that this bill is a sham. The bill isn't much good in itself (setting sixth grade education as an automatic qualification for literacy in voting), and it would not be enforced in the South anyhow.

Other Senators have hinted at an inner voice telling them that people named Kennedy are feeling their power too much, and need to be chopped down a few inches. One ultra-liberal Senator voted with the ultra-conservatives against cloture because he himself had once filibustered against the Dixon-Yates contract.

But by and large the liberal Democrats, like Yarborough and Gore, and liberal Republicans, like Aiken and Morton, took sides with ultra-right Southerners like Eastland and Thurmond because the Senate is a sacred institution where the right to full debate is held inviolate and where the love of the Constitution is virtually a religion.

Writing before the Literacy Test debate started, I predicted that this would be an "unfixed fight"—and it was. When the first roll call started at noon last May 9th, the press gallery thought that Majority Leader Mansfield would win by a small count, but probably with not enough of the two-thirds majority needed to close off debate.

Too Low a Key

Instead, Mansfield lost by 43-53, proving again (though it wasn't necessary) the Senate's unshakable integrity. A contest that cannot be predicted is an honest contest. Several Senators probably did not know how they would vote until they heard the closing arguments by the Southern chieftain Richard Russell (who recited Oliver Wendell Holmes' "Old Ironsides" to wring patriotic hearts), and by Minority Leader Dirksen and Majority Leader Mansfield.

Still another decisive factor was the feeling that Mike Mansfield, who replaced the dramatic wheeler-and-dealer Lyndon Johnson last year as Democratic Leader, had pitched the whole thing on too low a key. "Mike is such a nice guy," one Republican told me, "that it seems wrong to play him any dirty tricks, such as we used to play on Lyndon—and expect them in return."

Had Mansfield dragged the Senators in all-night sessions, tossed them at one another like fighting cocks until their tempers flamed, it is possible that liberals of the North and West would have wreaked vengeance upon the embattled Confederates. This may happen yet, though Mansfield would have to change not only his tactics but his whole character as a considerate and tradition-minded gentleman.

All the great Senate traits came forth to shine in the Literacy debate. The Senate is stable, and will not be bulldozed into voting for a sham. The Senate is complex in that its motives are mixed and subtle. The Senate can always be predicted to live up to its constancy to the Senate Rules and the Constitution. And yet, with all this, Presidents and lesser men continue to be puzzled that members of extreme Right and extreme Left find so much common ground on which to meet when the honor of the Senate is clearly at stake.

Probably would have had to sneak outside to look for a stick to scrape the soap off my body. I sure would have thought twice or maybe twenty times before pouring that ice water over me. Besides there wouldn't have been enough. And I never leaned toward the Spartan school.

Anyway, the next time someone tells you to get up early and you'll be healthy, wealthy and wise, slug him.

The only thing you'll be is all soaped up and no place you dare go.

"GET LOST—THIS IS STRICTLY AN INTERNAL AFFAIR"

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

If, while you are shaving, They turn off the water It makes you use phrases You shouldn't have oughter.

The above none - too - elegant language should make my late, lamented English teacher do 1200 RPM in her grave. Probably snap a harp string banging a cloud in frustration. Serves her right.

PEOPLE ARE ALWAYS saying like they had thought up something new and clever: You never miss the water until the well runs dry.

Or else they give you that virtuous "early to bed and early to rise" bit.

I disagree. There was still plenty of water in the well when I got hung up in the middle of the maternal shave.

And I got up early and didn't get healthy, wealthy or wise — just mad.

I'VE JUST ABOUT made up my mind to quit being a devotee of the sun's rise. Hereafter, I'll stay in bed and watch the rosy dawn through a window. This early to rise guff can get you in a jam. It could have given me more wiskers than Harry Oliver has.

The landlord where I stay decided the other morning that the plumbing was ripe for a little repair work. So he ordered it done at 6 a.m. figuring no one would be up by then. His timing was bad.

HERE I WAS, all lathered up and making like Roger Maris on TV when the beautiful flow of hot water began to dwindle. Disregarding the certain probability of digging foxholes from ear to ear, I rushed it through. But not in time.

Soap in my ears and other places, tufts of hair here and there — and not a drop of water. I dry-shaved with appropriate imprecations but what to do about the blobs of that brand the TV says is wetter, moister, contains a soothing additive and makes the hair stand up to be mowed down?

GETTING UP EARLY like that, however, makes you resourceful. After pondering my reflection for a while and reciting "mirror, mirror on the wall, how'n hell did this befall?" I got an idea.

It took a lot of nerve but I got the jar of water out of the refrigerator, poured it in the lavatory which is a polite word for sink, soaked the face rag, and, after a few strident yells, became presentable.

I'M JUST THINKING, however, if that guy had been a little earlier, I WOULD have been in a mess.

Probably would have had to sneak outside to look for a stick to scrape the soap off my body. I sure would have thought twice or maybe twenty times before pouring that ice water over me. Besides there wouldn't have been enough. And I never leaned toward the Spartan school.

Anyway, the next time someone tells you to get up early and you'll be healthy, wealthy and wise, slug him.

The only thing you'll be is all soaped up and no place you dare go.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: If you want to do your readers a big favor, please print my story: I quit a wonderful job and flew to Reno, Nevada, to divorce my wife. I set up a six weeks' residency thinking that was all I needed. My wife flew to Reno to contest the divorce. I had to pay for her first-class jet fare and all her expenses. I have spent up in the thousands and still no divorce. Tell those who think it is easy to get a divorce in Reno to save their money and stay home unless they have an agreement before they go. —J.

DEAR J.J.: Your story choked me up. If more married people would spend as much money, time and energy on making their marriages work, as they do on trying to dissolve them, we would turn our divorce courts into bowling alleys.

DEAR ABBY: Your "Old Maid" is asleep on her rights. There "is" a National Old Maid's Day. It was founded in 1948 by Miss Marion Richards of Norristown, Pa. The official date is June 4th. The purpose of establishing Old Maid's Day was not to get "loot" as your correspondent suggested, but to honor less fortunate and unappreciated old maids. For instance, last year I entertained a group of maiden ladies from the County Home for dinner. —Sincerely, MISS M. W.

DEAR MISS M. W.: Lovely. Does anyone know if there's a Bachelor's Day? If so, perhaps these two groups could get together and entertain each other.

DEAR ABBY: Who said there ought to be a special day set aside to honor "old maids"? There are "two" such days. One is "Independence Day" and the other is "Thanksgiving." Sign me —OLD MAID

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column from a little boy, who couldn't understand why God didn't answer his prayers when he prayed so hard, reminds me of this wonderful story:

Tommy, a church-going, 7-year-old, told his playmate that he had been praying all year for a bicycle for Christmas. Christmas came and went and little Tommy did not receive the bicycle. His playmate asked, "Where is that bicycle you prayed for all year, Tommy? You told me that God answers all our prayers." Tommy thought a moment and then replied, "He answered mine. He said 'No!'" —MRS. D.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Abby", care of this paper.

Remember When

May 18, 1952

The City Council was asked why there was no American flag on display at the city hall. The only flags in town were on private property, the petitioners said.

Ed Davison, manager of Rossmore Hotel, was elected president of the Palm Springs Hotel and Apartment Association. Herbert Burns, retiring president, installed the new officials.

Palm Springs Realty Board adopted a resolution to go all out to have federal home loan agencies recognize the desert as an all-year community.

May 18, 1942

An appeal was issued to Civil Defense Workers here to aid in the War Bond drive. The county's quota was $268,500.

Col. William Tunner flew in from Washington, D. C. to discuss plans for converting the local airport into a ferry command base to fly war planes to the battle scenes abroad.

Stella Rooke returned from a month's Mexican trip to her local real estate office.

May 18, 1932

Al Seigel and Walt Kane, New York music composers who spent much time here, returned from the east and rented a home near Banning to complete work on a musical comedy.

Chamber of Commerce members went to Beaumont to attend the May meeting of the county chamber.

QUOTES

SAN BERNARDINO — The Nudesletter, a nudist periodical, suggesting that the residents of Beverly Hills, Calif., might find their mental health by losing their clothes: "According to a recent survey, Beverly Hills has one psychiatrist for every 169 residents, against the national average of one for every 13,794 people. It appears that Beverly Hills is sorely in need of a nudist camp."

POINT PLEASANT, N. J. — Dr. John C. Clark, defending a so-called "doctor's revolt" against the government's proposed medicare bill:

"We are pledged to furnish the best medical care possible, and I don't think we can furnish the best medical care under government regulation."

FAYETTEVILLE, Ind. — School Principal Howard Pace, who ordered three young boys out of class because their shirt-tails were exposed: "My job is to try to run the school and I don't want any night gowns in class."

NEW ORLEANS — Bernard J. Gaillot Jr., in a letter to Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel who excommunicated Gaillot's wife from the Roman Catholic Church:

"I do firmly believe every word of God's Holy Bible as it is written. Therefore my beliefs are in exact concurrence with my wife's. If she is truly excommunicated from the Catholic Church then I too should be excommunicated."

BOB CONSIDINE:

They Figured Out Way To Reach Columnist

NEW YORK—People . . . places . . . things . . . Survivors of a late lamented news service plan a reunion at the Overseas Press Club here later this month. Among the reporters who received training with the noble old wire service is Inez Robb, but there was some indecision on the part of the reunion committee as to her present address.

Recent explosions in the Southwest; however, gave the committee a clue. So it sent Inez's notice to her care of Camelback Inn, Phoenix, Ariz.

"Please Forward," the envelope added wistfully.

Inquisitive woman approached Roy Campanella in his wheel chair recently.

"Is it really true that you can't move your legs or feet, not even a toe?" she asked incredulously of the burly former Brooklyn Dodger catcher whose neck was snapped in a car accident in January, 1958.

"Have you really tried?" the woman persevered.

"Every minute of the day," the good man answered, thoughtfully. "Don't you have faith?"

Campy looked up at her patiently, then smiled and said:

"Yes, m'am, I got faith—plenty of it. But like the doctor said, 'You can't run water through a busted pipe.'"

All Right, You Mets

He said something equally touching the other day to a few old and young sportswriters gathered to hear him speak at the Dutch Treat Club:

"Hope when they build that new stadium for the Mets they'll put in ramps for paraplegics, and maybe issue individual passes for the paraplegic and his attendant. It'd be real nice to just take off and see a ballgame someday, and not have to wait to be taken with all the others to a game somebody else picks for you."

Well, it's your move Messrs. Moses, Weiss, Stengel—and Miss Rheingold.

One of the most affectionate little books I've read in a long time is "a tribute to Governor Smith" by Robert Moses, put out by Simon and Schuster. ($2.50) There are fond introductions by Francis Cardinal Spellman, Thomas E. Dewey, Bernard M. Baruch and H. V. Kaltenborn.

I rate Moses as having few peers and no superiors in the magnetic use of the American language. Here are a few of his words, words which can make no man wonder whether they were worth the price of the tree that had to be felled to provide the paper on which they flow.

"... He had so much. In all his fabulous years he never lost the zest for life and the undiminished sense of wonderment which began on South Street and the Bowery and ended in the Empire State Building and upper Fifth Avenue, with stops of astonishing places in between."

Something to Remember

"Fate has never been able to conceal the Smiths . . . The few remaining members of the Smith brigade think of him often and at the strangest times, see him in moments of action and relaxation, inspiration and ease. We hear his rough voice, we recall his endless, nameless acts of kindness, unforgettable instances of his enthusiasm and loyalty, his faith, his shrewdness, wit, wisdom and Activities will resume again next October and the club is looking forward to your continued co-operation.

Winnie Warren, Sec'y.
